Hello Fellow Family Researchers,

Just like that, we are at the last program/meeting of our year. Where did the time go? We have one more meeting tomorrow evening.

Tuesday, June 9

6:00 pm central

Willard Library lower level Browning Gallery/Zoom online

Our speaker is our own Kassidy Cobb, the TSGS Web guru and owner of "History for The Ages".

We have an interesting and exciting topic, "Planning Fun Historical Events"

I have never heard a program on this topic so I'm really excited to hear this one.

Some of the other things we will be doing tomorrow evening are:

Swearing in of officers for 2026-2027

Collecting Dues for the next program year 2026-2027

Playing the Are You My Cousin game on our phones. Make sure you have the Family Search app on your phone and you know your login information.

Extra giveaways

Discounts on Books for sale

A preview of some of the programs for next year (starting in September)

A layout of yummy appetizers and beverages (free of charge) with time to talk with other researchers and friends – who may also be a cousin!

I would love to see you all there or at the least on Zoom. We really love to have contact with our other researcher friends and family!

I'm including the Zoom link below in case you can't be there in person.

Hope to see you tomorrow evening,

Kim VanVorst

President, Tri-State Genealogical Society
